How to host a blookey game without an account

If you want to make your classroom more engaging or simply want some ideas for fun group activities, Blookey can help. I've been using the platform for a while now and think it's one of the best tools out there for gamified learning. In this post, I'll show you how to create games on Blookey, set up a game session, and offer some tips to make your sessions more enjoyable. A Blookey host is someone who creates and manages games on the platform. This could be a teacher, tutor, or just someone looking for a fun group activity. As the host, you set the rules, choose questions, and decide the gameplay mode. Once the game starts, participants join using a code, and you control the pace and flow.
